

Contents

List of Figures vii

Series Editors' Introduction ix

Introduction: Political Identities and Transnational Science . . . 1

RICHARD MCMAHON

1. Transnational Network, Transnational Narratives: Scientific
Race Classifications and National Identities 31

RICHARD MCMAHON

2. The Destiny of Races “Not Yet Called to Civilization”:
Giustiniano Nicolucci’s Critique of American Polygenism and Defense of Liberal Racism 69

MARIA SOPHIA QUINE

3. A Matter of Place, Space, and People: Cracow
Anthropology, 1870–1920 105

MARIA RHODE

4. Yet Another Greek Tragedy? Physical Anthropology and the Construction of National Identity in the Late Nineteenth Century 141

AGELIKI LEFKADITOU

5. Jews between Volk and Rasse 175

AMOS MORRIS-REICH

6. Classifying Hybridity in Nineteenth- and Early Twentieth-Century Russian Imperial Anthropology 205

MARINA MOGILNER

7. Physical Anthropology in Colonial Korea: Science and Colonial Order, 1916–1940	241
ARNAUD NANTA
8. Racial Anthropology on the Eastern Front, 1912 to the mid-1920s	271
MACIEJ GÓRNY
9. Racial Politics as a Multiethnic Pavilion: Yugoslavs, Dinarics, and the Search for a Synthetic Identity in the 1920s and 1930s	295
RORY YEOMANS
Conclusion: From National Races to National Genomes	339
CATHERINE NASH
Contributors	363
Index	369